

past - future 6e_tenses_01_L

Example: 'Ich habe letzten Sonntag gearbeitet. Und Du?' - 'Ich habe nicht gearbeitet, und ich werde nicht arbeiten.'

1. - Boris bought (to buy) a football last week. And you?
- I didn't buy a football, I won't buy one.
2. - Maggie has drunk cola. And you, Boris and David?
- We haven't drunk cola, and we won't drink any.
3. Boris has gone cycling in the street. And Nigel?
He hasn't gone cycling and he won't go cycling.
4. We've made our homework. And Boris?
He hasn't made his homework, and he won't make it.

Fill in the correct tense. 6e_tenses_02

1. Boris will soon meet new friends in Hull.
2. He will have to learn many things about his new school.
3. His friend Maggie asks him: Will you write me a text soon?
4. Boris has just arrived in Hull.
5. He wants to write a text to Maggie.
6. But he has forgotten his mobile in living room and hasn't charged the battery.
7. So Maggie won't get the promised text.

Simple past/past progressive/present perfect? 6e_tenses_03 (EIn abweichender Fall ist angegeben.)

Have you ever forgotten your key? Let me tell you: It can be terrible. Yesterday evening, while I was washing up, I noticed that I had no more cigarettes. I didn't switch off the cooker because I wanted to be back soon. I left my flat and bought some cigarettes. When I came back into my street, I could hear a loud noise: My kettle was whistling. I rushed to the front door. "Oh, no," I thought. "Where have I put my key?" Someone opened a window.

- "Is that you, Mr Farage? Can you switch off that kettle, please?"

- "Sorry. I haven't got my key," I said.

- "Have you lost it?"

- "No. I think it's still on the kitchen table. I'll go into the garden and have a look at my back window. Perhaps I have left it open. But I wasn't lucky. So I had to go back to the front of the house. A lot of people were waiting in the street.

"Has someone called the police?" a man asked.

Mrs May: "I have".

Then it happened. The whistle top of the kettle flew off and broke the window. Pieces of glass fell down. I jumped back! I heard a woman's voice: "It's burning." I looked up. There was a big white cloud in front of my kitchen and more white steam came out of the broken window.

Put into Past Tense      6e_tenses_04

It was Thursday. My parents were out. I was alone at home. First I watched TV until ten o'clock, then I went to bed. But I cleaned my teeth first. In my room I sat on my bed. Suddenly the telephone rang. I rushed downstairs and went to the telephone. It was still ringing. I put the receiver to my ear and said, 'This is Boris speaking.' Nobody answered me. The line was open all the time. I could hear voices and some noise at the other end but nobody was talking to me. Was it a bad line? I didn't know but after some minutes I put down the phone. I walked to the kitchen and got a drink. Then I went upstairs again. The minute I was upstairs the telephone started ringing again. I put down my drink and rushed down to answer the telephone but again there was nobody. I was very much afraid and ran up to my room. I locked the door, took my clothes off and jumped into my bed. I switched off the light. Silence. I could not hear a sound. Then suddenly – the window. Somebody was scratching at the glass with his fingernails. I pulled the blanket over my head but I could still hear that noise. Slowly I looked at the window. I could see a dark figure. Oh, my God, what was it? Again that noise. I took all my courage and got up. I walked to the window and oh, it was only the tree. I was very happy and went back to bed. I had a look at the alarm-clock. It was eleven o'clock. I felt tired. The next day was a hard day because we were writing an English test and I hadn't learnt the irregular verbs yet. After some minutes I fell asleep. Then I woke up again. Again I heard a noise but this time it came from downstairs. Somebody was inside our house. I heard steps. I was looking for my pistol. I found it under my cushion. While I was loading it I could hear the steps on the stairs. They were coming nearer. Quickly I finished loading. I was waiting behind the door. The steps were coming nearer and nearer. With a loud 'Bang' the door was opened. I was so nervous that I forgot to shoot. I saw a white figure. Was this the prisoner of the house? He was carrying his head under his arm. Was I dreaming? Was all this really happening to me? Then he saw me and came closer and gave me his head. I felt nervous. I wanted to hide. Then I woke up. My parents were in my room, they were standing in front of my bed and in my arms I held a new football.

A Fairy Tale

A long time ago and far away there lived a King and a Queen. They were very happy because they had got their first child, a girl, a Princess. They invited all their friends and all the Fairies and had a great party. They thought that there were only 12 Fairies but there was number 13, too, but she came without an invitation. At the party all the guests gave presents. When Fairy 11 put her present on the table the room went dark. Fairy 13 came in and stood in front of the King and Queen. She said, 'I am here without an invitation and so I tell you that your daughter will burn her finger on her 15th birthday and die.' And after these words she flew away. But as the window was closed she hit her head against it, the glass broke and she fell through it, landed in the garden with her head down and broke her neck. When Fairy 12 heard this she changed the curse (Fluch), 'Your daughter does not die but only fall into a deep sleep.' The day before her 15th birthday the Princess helped in the kitchen to make her cake. At 23.30 h she felt hungry and drove her Ferrari into town to 'Nigel's Chips Station'. She wanted a large serving of fish and chips. Nigel made good chips. All the people liked them. The Princess was so hungry that she took the meal and wanted to eat it right away. But as the chips were so hot she burnt her finger. The pain was so awful that she collapsed. An ambulance came and took her to hospital. Nigel saw this, drove her Ferrari to hospital and walked into the Princess' room. The doctor looked at her and said, 'I cannot help her. Only a kiss from a beautiful young man will help her.' So Nigel ran to her bed, held her hand in his hand and kissed it. And then she opened her eyes, saw Nigel, sank into his arms and never ever left Nigel again.

Fill in the correct form/tense. 6e_tenses_06

1.
  - Can we give her so much money?
  - No, we can't, she will spend it all on shoes.
2.
  - Do you know the name of this bird?
  - I know his name, but I have forgotten it .
3.
  - Have you already heard Adele's new song?
  - Yes, I heard it this morning.
4.
  - I'll do my homework tomorrow.
  - When will you do your homework?
  - I'll do my homework this afternoon.
5.
  - Must I do the shopping now?
  - Yes, you must do it now.
6.
  - When did you have to take the train last night?
  - I had to take it at 11 p.m last night.
7.
  - At what time will I have to get up tomorrow morning?
  - You'll have to get up at 7 a.m.
  - Why can't I get up a bit later?
  - Because you must meet Harry at the station.
8.
  - Have you already begun your homework?
  - Yes, I began it at 5 p.m.
9.
  - Have you already shown me your test?
  - I showed you my test yesterday.
  - Oh, I can't remember. Can you show it me now?
  - I'll show you.